MARCH OF ILLUSTRATION.—Young womanhood! the sweet moon on the horizon's verge, a thought matured, but, not uttered—a conception warm and glowing, not yet embodied—the rich halo that precedes the rising sun—the dawn that bespeaks the ripening peach—a flower—
A flower which is not quite a flower,
Yet is no more a bud!

Exchange Paper.

Young womanhood! molasses touched, with a little brimstone, spread on bread not buttered! a being all joints and angles not filled out—an unformed form deformed by stays—a pallid thing that loves the ripening peach—a young woman—
A woman which is not quite a woman—
Yet something more, nor a girl.

Brooklyn News.

Young womanhood! a half moon not yet risen—a cake baked, but not turned—hot corn, all hot and smoking, not yet cold—a rich curdle which precedes the coming of butter—the thickening down upon a goslings back, that bespeaks the future goose—a butterfly—
A butterfly which is not quite a butterfly, And yet ain't a caterpillar no how you can fix it.

Sunday Morning News.

The mistress and the maid are never so much alike as when both are in a passion. Death itself scarcely shows us our common nature more plainly than any human passion in its intensity. Love, rage, panic, in extreme, are thorough levelers. Perhaps it is this dim consciousness of this that leads men of pride and fashion to aim above all things at an imperturbable demeanor.

American women do not appreciate their rights. This being leap year every wife is privileged to black her husband's boots while but few do it.

Why is a man hung far better than a vagabond? Because he has visible means of support.

LIGHT.

BY WM. PITT PALMER.

(Pronounced by one of the most eminent critics in Europe to be one of the finest productions of the same length in our language.)

From the quickened womb of the primal gloom:

The sun led blank and bare.

Till I wove him a veil, for his Ethiopian breast,

Of the threads of my golden hair;

And when the broad tent of the firmament

Arose on its airy base,

I penciled the hues of the machless blue

And spangled it round the stars.

I painted the flowers of Eden, towers

And their leaves of living green.

And mine were the dyes in the sinless eyes

Of Eden's virgin queen.

And when the fiend's art on trustful heart

Had fastened its mortal spell,

In the silvery sphere of the first-born tear

To the trembling earth I fell.

When the waves that burst o'er a world so curled

Their work of wrath had sped,

And the ark's lone crew, the tried and true,

Came forth amongst the dead.

With the wondrous gleams of my bride beams

I bade their terrors cease.

As I wrote on the roll of the storm's dark scroll

God's covenant of Peace.

Like a pall at rest on a senseless breast,

Night's funeral shadow slept—

When shepard swales, on Bethlehem's plains

Their lowly vigils kept—

Then I flashed on their sight the heralds bright

Of Heaven's redeeming plan,

As they chanted the morn of a Savior born—

Joy, joy to the outcast-may!

Equal favor I show to the lofty and low.

On the just and the unjust I descend;

Even the blind, whose vain spheres roll in darkness and tears

Feel my smile, the best smile of a friend;

Nay the flower of the waste by my love is embraced

As the rose in the garden of kings,

At the crystal tier of the worm I appear.

And lo! the gay butterfly wings.

The desolate morn, like a mourner forlorn,

Conceals all the pride of her charms;

Till I bid the bright hours chase the night

from her bowers

And lead her young day to her arms!

And when the gay rover seeks love for his lover

And sinks to her balmy repose,

I wrap the soft rest by the zephyr-fanned spot.

In curtains of amber and rose!

From my sentinel sleep by the night dreaded sleep

I gaze with unblinking eyes.

When the cynosure star of the mariner is blotted from out the sky!

And guided by me through the mercurial sea,

Though sped by the hurricane's wing,

His compassless, dark, lone, weltering bark

To the haven home safely he brings.

I waken the flowers in their dew-spangled bower

The birds in their chambers of green,

And the mountain and plain glow with beauty again.

As they tuck in the maternal sheen:

O, if such the glad worth of my presence on earth.

Though fretful and fleeting the while,

What glories must rest on the home of the blest.

Ever bright with the Deity's smile!

Thoughtless Fun.

A writer says: "In a small town many years ago, some children were met for a social evening at an old farm house. While the sport was at its height, a little boy thought it would be "funny" to draw a chair out from under a little girl, and let her sit down on the floor. He watched his opportunity and made the attempt; but the little girl, seeing what he was doing, jumped back into the chair, and, striking her spine on one of the projections, broke her back. For seven years, from fourteen to twenty-one,

she lay upon her bed, and during all that time was carried from her chamber to the parlor but once. Thirty years have passed; thirty years of disability and pain as the consequence of a thoughtless deed by a little boy. A few strangers administer to her daily wants, without these aids she would be sent to the poor house. Terrible consequence to follow a thoughtless act! Let the boys be careful."

We know a similar case, where a young girl on her way home, was stoned by some rude boys. One of the stones struck her ankle; an open sore was formed, which the physician could not heal, and all her life (and she was an old lady when we knew her) she was compelled to use a crutch.

A Chicago man claims to have discovered a principal in nature by which water can be resolved into its prime factors, and as a result he guarantees that within three months he will demonstrate that water may be burned like oil for illuminating purposes and to supply heat. We know all the time that if there was anything in water that hadn't been discovered some

Chicago man would find it out.

No man's spirits were ever hurt by doing his duty. On the contrary, one good action, one temptation resisted and overcome, one sacrifice of desire or interest, purely for conscience sake, will prove a cordial to weak and low spirits, far beyond what either indulgence, or diversion or company can do for them.

A Southern city is said to boast of a colored lodge, part of whose title is "The Grand Council of the Grand Aspiant Order of the Sons, and Daughters, Brothers and Sisters of Moses, of the United States and the world at Large." Their secret grip lasts a man for six months.

Soft soldier mends many a hole in a hard pan, and taffy heals many a wounded spirit, if judiciously applied.

Vandalism at Mount Vernon.

(Springfield (Mass.) Republican.)

It is such a pity—such a sad and total pity—that the women who have this place in charge have so little common sense, so little taste and real veneration for the home of Washington. The different rooms belong to different States that have appropriated them, and a vandal committee have undertaken to restore and furnish them. It does seem so strange that there has been no one in authority who has had sense enough to say, "Let it all alone; keep the house from falling to pieces, and let that be all; don't paint, plaster or whitewash; don't do anything—leave it as nearly as it was as is possible." What have they done instead? Everything that is abominable; and the east parlor or music room, restored and furnished by Ohio, leads the ignominious procession.

It has at the first glance an Ohio look; it is so new, so fresh, so shoddy. They've painted the walls and ceiling, they've laid Turkish rugs on the floor; they've made new furniture, that has the pattern but not the look of anything old, they've hung in it an abominable mirror with a beveled glass border, ornamented with a cut-glass design, and the only thing old in it is the harpsichord of Nellie O'Brien. It made me furiously indignant to look into that decorated room, and I only hope that the women that engineered the improvements may live to have a realizing sense of their vandalism. I couldn't desire a worse punishment for them.

AN OLD NEWSPAPER.—We have just met with an old newspaper which is quite a curiosity. Old as

THE CHRONICLE.

BODIE, MARCH 23, 1890.

REVENUE BILL SIGNED.
San Francisco, March 22.—The Governor this morning signed the Revenue bill.

Will Appeal.
The United States Circuit Court this morning in the Parrott habeas corpus case, involving the validity of the law recently enacted, forbidding employment of Chinese by corporations, decided the law unconstitutional. The case will probably be taken to the U. S. Supreme Court, Ben Butler having announced his willingness to manage the case there for the people.

Found Dead.
SIERRA CITY, March 22.—This morning an Italian was found on the trail leading from Logansville to Sierra Buttes mine dead, with his throat cut.

EASTERN.
The Mining Bill.
WASHINGTON, March 22.—The Committee on Mines has agreed to amendment offered by Bedford, of Colorado, reducing the price of mineral lands from $5 to $3.50 per acre, and also extending the time for applying for a patent from one year to two years. The section in reference to mining locations as agreed to is as follows: A mining claim located after the first day of September, 1890, may equal, but shall not exceed a square of 960 feet on the side, and the same may be in any shape, so that neither the length nor breadth shall exceed 1500, nor aggregate an area to exceed that of the square heretofore described. The section gives to the miner an area of about 23 acres, but does not allow him to follow his mineral beyond his surface boundary lines. The Committee is unanimously in favor of the application of the common law principle to all mining locations heretofore made. The members of the Committee declared there can be no prosperity in mining interests until relief from litigation is accorded and they believe that when a miner is confined to his side lines there will be no more litigation about mining claims than there is about agricultural lands.

NEW YORK, March 22.—The Times complains of the introduction of sand lot vituperation and vulgar abuse into speeches of the striking piano makers. Yesterday, one speaker declaring at their mass meeting that the manufacturers are a rascable gang of blood suckers and chaps, and another who thought there must be war to release the workmen from their thralldom, and referred to contractors as vile fiends, suckers and bloodhounds, who have not the feelings of a dog.

Grant Rumors.
WASHINGTON, March 22.—There is a rumor about here to-day that the steamer City of Mexico, on which Gen. Grant is a passenger, has been disabled and another that she has been lost at sea. The grounds for these rumors are that she has not been sighted by the pilots. She was due at Galveston yesterday. Inquiry at Executive mansion and signal service office fails to confirm the rumors.

Chicago, March 22.—The Journal's Washington special says regarding the City of Mexico: The steamer being a strong one, it is probable she is safe. Probably she is out at sea waiting for the gale to subside.

Not Due.
GALVESTON, March 22.—The steamer with Gen. Grant is not due here until to-day.

It is believed the rumor of loss of the steamer is purely sensational, and it is argued the steamer may have changed her course and put into New Orleans, as when a gale prevails from the northwest it is impossible for a vessel to enter the port at Galveston. If it is possible for her to leave her anchorage the U. S. cutter McLean will go out on a cruise to-morrow morning in search of the steamer. Gen. Ord and staff arrived on a special train from San Antonio last night to meet Grant.

The Kellogg Case.
WASHINGTON, March 22.—In the Senate to-day, Hill of Georgia, from the Committee on Elections, reported that Spofford was entitled to the seat now occupied by Kellogg. Hoar presented the minority report of himself, Cameron and Logan. Both reports were read. Kellogg is charged with corrupt and fraudulent conduct.

A Base Conspiracy.
DEADWOOD, March 22.—An attempt was made last night to assassinate George Stokes, of the Evening Press, by three ruffians hired by unknown scoundrels for $50 each. Three arrests have been made. An investigation shows a conspiracy to clean out the entire journalistic profession. The latter are walking armaments.

Buffalo, March 22.—John Quinn, aged 63 years, hanged himself in the police station yesterday. He was a leader of the Fenian invasion of Canada in 1866, and was captured and sentenced to be hanged, but the sentence was commuted to 20 years imprisonment. He served six years in the Kingston prison.

Democratic Nominations.
PROVIDENCE, March 22.—The Democratic State Convention has made the following nomination: For Governor, H. M. Kimball; Lieut. Gov., Stephen M. Sollem; Secretary of State, W. B. W. Hallet; Attorney General, Hugh J. Carroll; Treasurer, Daniel B. Pond.

FOREIGN.
Elections.
LONDON, March 22.—The Kingdom is completely absorbed in the elections. Parliament expires like a candle. It had been devoting the last hours to a bill forced through by the ministers which facilitate corruption by legalizing cab hiring, thereby enhancing the advantages of rich, unscrupulous candidates. The liberals consider their position with the country has been decidedly improved during the week. They say Lord Beaconsfield attempt to force them to assume the defensive has failed. The canvass everywhere is proceeding with redoubled energy, and the confidence in a Liberal triumph is daily increasing. It is expected that Lord Beaconsfield will announce some startling coups when Parliament has adjourned. The nomination of Herbert Gladstone for Middlesex surprises the Tories, who expected a walk over. It is the best proof of the growing confidence of the Liberals and their personal devotion to Gladstone. The movement originated with Foster and Samuel Morley. The city Liberal Club enthusiastically supported it, and Gladstone telegraphed his assent, a meeting of the leading Liberals ratified the nomination and agreed to defray expenses of the contest, about $50,000. Success is hardly to be expected, as the last Tory majority was double the Liberal vote.

The Queen departs next week for Baden, and will remain away a month. As a change of Ministry would be impracticable during her absence, it is inferred that Beaconsfield intends not to resign before Parliament meets in May, whatever may be the result of the elections, alleging that it is doubtful whether the home rulers will support Lord Hartington in moving a want of confidence vote.

Ransom Paid.
SALONICA, March 22.—Col. Synge, of the British army, and his wife, have been liberated by the payment of the ransom to the brigands.

The Anaheim Gazette says that the fat men who wanted to be lean, and therefore drank of the waters of the mineral spring near Anaheim are now just as fat as ever. The editor has been inundated with letters from fat folks, asking for further information about the spring, until finally he sends a printed reply: "You come here, and answer all the letters I receive on this subject, and you will be lean enough."

At the Carson Mint the buying price of silver has been advanced to 114 4-10. The Mint is now running one-third force; coinage operations temporarily suspended; nothing but assaying and melting done. Silver purchases are still made, and gold deposits received as usual. It is impossible at present to state when orders from the Director of the Mint will be received for resumption of coinage.

There is quite an exodus of Vermonters for Colorado.

NEW TO-DAY.
KNIGHTS OF PYTH A.
WILL MEET ON NEXT WEDNESDAY Evening at 7 o'clock, at I. O. O. F. Hall on business of importance. A full attendance is desired.

As a change of Ministry would be impracticable during her absence, it is inferred that Beaconsfield intends not to resign before Parliament meets in May, whatever may be the result of the elections, alleging that it is doubtful whether the home rulers will support Lord Hartington in moving a want of confidence vote.

Ransom Paid.
SALONICA, March 22.—Col. Synge, of the British army, and his wife, have been liberated by the payment of the ransom to the brigands.

The Anaheim Gazette says that the fat men who wanted to be lean, and therefore drank of the waters of the mineral spring near Anaheim are now just as fat as ever. The editor has been inundated with letters from fat folks, asking for further information about the spring, until finally he sends a printed reply: "You come here, and answer all the letters I receive on this subject, and you will be lean enough."
